Investment Advisor

If your focus is portfolio management and developing long-term relationships, instead of selling packaged products, we offer an alternative approach to the large brokerage firms. As an Advisor with our firm, you're a fiduciary, you own your client relationships, you place your clients interests first. You will have the freedom and flexibility to service clients with appropriate investment selections without regard to other interests.

So, if you're looking for more freedom and independence as an Investment Advisor, have the ability to select products/services that best fits clients, along with earning a much higher payout, we provide that environment. You will be more time efficient as we are discretionary asset managers.

In the role of Investment Advisor, you will work to transition your existing client base to our platform. Overall, you will be responsible for assessing and providing customized investment solutions to help clients achieve their long term financial goals. Your goal is to demonstrate to clients and prospects the value of Left Brain Wealth Management's platform resulting in asset accumulation and retention.
